From Autistic Child to a almost Normal child treated with Homeopathy

Homeopathic treatment brings a dramatic change in this boy who was diagnosed with Autism. The child was extremely hyperactive and would not sit for a single moment. The red flags of less eye contact, extreme hyperactivity, toe walking, no response to name, sensory issues were marked since the child was 1 year old.

The child looked totally confused and would look lost in his own world. During his 1st birthday, it was observed that one guest was repeatedly calling him and the child would not respond at all. The alarming symptoms of autism were noticed by the family member at the age of 2.6 years of age.

The parents got the child assessed and was diagnosed with Autism. Apart from the diagnosis of the child the mother of the child was not ready to accept the diagnosis so this created a lot of stress in the family.

The child was not receiving any therapy when he was brought to us for Homeopathic treatment. We explained to the father why it is essential to give therapy to the child as we are on a limited time frame as brain development is taking place. It is always a good thing to give the child integrated treatment with Homeopathy, Nutrition, and therapy.

The child was very intelligent and would grasp things very fast but there was a lot of confusion. He would confuse between genders and also in expressing himself. There was a delay in speech and the child would become extremely hyper when he was unable to express. Dealing with children who are on the autism spectrum disorder is not an easy task if you don't know what to do. It is always a good thing to talk with your healthcare provider to understand what to do in situations like the above.

After the case taking which is done by Dr. Santosh Joshi and Dr. Varsha Joshi was completed it was analysed to find the homeopathic remedy that suits the constitution of the child. Homeopathic treatment is an individualised form of treatment where the characteristics of the individual are taken into consideration to find the Homeopathic medicines.

In this case not only did the child recover, when reassessed he was not coming under the diagnosis of the autism spectrum. So does Homeopathy cure autism? Our answer is Autism is a disorder and not a disease so the question of cure doesn't arise. But at the same time, the disappearance of all the symptoms of autism and getting the child in the mainstream is a big achievement with Homeopathic medicines and therapy.

In rural India in certain places where there is no therapy available we have helped children only with Homeopathy, we always tell our patients to take Home-based therapy for their autistic child.

The aim of Dr.Joshis centre for autism is to bring the best in the child who is on the autism spectrum.We are not biased as we hear from our patients that certain doctors advice not to give Homeopathy when they themselves don't know what benefits Homeopathy can bring in cases of autism. We educate doctors from other fields of medicine to keep an open mind and see what is best for the child as the patients benefit it the main criteria.

Dr.Joshis centre for autism is at the forefront of bringing the benefits of Homeopathy medicine in autism via its online treatment. We are relentlessly improving our portal on autism to provide seamless treatment across geographies.
